EUAA Database on International Protection in Europe (DIP)

What is DIP?

Share page

The EUAA Database on International Protection in Europe (DIP) monitors the functioning of the Common European Asylum System (CEAS) in 30 EU+ countries (EU Member States, Norway, Iceland, Montenegro, Serbia, and Turkey). It addresses the information needs of policymakers, officials within national asylum and reception administrations, and other stakeholders.

Read more

The database was designed in close cooperation with national administrations, which review country information through a validation process. Information in DIP is supplemented by jurisprudential developments in the EUAA Case Law Database.

Example of a thematic page structure: Reception - Estonia

The screenshot displays the thematic page structure for 'Reception - Estonia' on the euaa website. The page is organized into several sections:

- Header: euaa logo, Database on International Protection in Europe, Accessibility, Members area, and a search bar.
- Breadcrumbs: Home / Countries / Estonia / Reception - Estonia.
- Section Title: Reception - Estonia. A sub-instruction says: "Click on the section title below to read more".
- Content Navigation: A sidebar on the left lists the following sections: Reception system, Overview, Relevant EU legislation, National legislation, Competent authority and stakeholders, Organisational aspects, Allocation of applicants to geographical areas within their territory, Staff and training, and Reception phases.
- Content Area: The main content area contains sections with expandable arrows: Reception system, Overview, Relevant EU legislation, National legislation, and Competent authority and stakeholders. The 'Relevant EU legislation' section contains text about Estonia's transposition of the recast Reception Conditions Directive through the Act on Granting International Protection to Aliens (AGIPA). The 'National legislation' section contains text about Estonia transposing the recast Reception Conditions Directive by the Act on Granting International Protection to Aliens (AGIPA) / Välismaalasele rahvusvahelise kaitse andmisseadus. The 'Competent authority and stakeholders' section is currently collapsed.
- Page Footer: A yellow footer bar with the European Union flag.
